Organizing Your Child's Education Files

A workshop to help you create
“the book” on your child

Wednesday, March 10, 2010

9-11 a.m.**

REFRESHMENTS SERVED

Long Hill Administration Building
6254 Main Street, Trumbull, Connecticut

Getting your child's files organized can be as daunting as managing your child's special needs. However, if you get your child's files organized you can be a more empowered member of your child's team. A group of parents will share with you how they did it and how you can do it quickly and easily.

We will help you build your child's 'positive profile' at the workshop so that you have a document readily available to give to teachers and other people that interact with your child. The profile will have photos and information on your child's interests, concerns, needs, etc. so you can help them better understand your child so that everyone has a more positive experience whether it's shared with school, clubs, professionals, doctors, friends and family.

We will also walk you through other suggested components of your child's book so you can have important information about your child at your fingertips. We want you to have a simple way to access your child's tests/evaluations, IEPs, behavioral assessments and plans, related services, medical records, work samples, progress reports, correspondence, and other information that will help in capturing the most comprehensive “snapshot” of your child.

Join us for a MORNING workshop that will make your life a little bit easier!

First 20 parents/caregivers to register will receive a FREE starter book with templates, tabs, supplies and more.

Please RSVP your attendance by March 5 by e-mailing tpslid@yahoo.com
